FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

- The FBMKLCI ended the month of January lower at 1,512.27 points, a decline of -3.53% (-55.26 points) from 1,567.53 points a month earlier. The broader FBMS also trended the month lower by -5.66% (-694.00 points) to 11,569.10 points from previous month's close of 12,263.10 points following Federal Reserve's signal on raising its interest rate beginning mid-March.
- Malaysia stocks fell inline with sharp sell-off in the global market after Federal Reserve Chair, Jerome Powell hinted that the committee is likely to hike interest rates and end its bond purchases in March to tame inflation. Jerome Powell further announced that the Fed is looking to reduce the balance sheet after the interest rate hike.
- Malaysian market was one of the worst-performing markets in the world in 2021 due to the lockdown in 2Q2021 and share price correction in the glove sectors. Political uncertainty is another factor that keeps investors away.
- We are cautiously optimistic about the performance Malaysian Equity market. We continue to advocate buying on weakness, especially in mid-to-large cap space, to ride on the improving economic activities and dividend yield stocks that could generate sustainable income to the overall portfolio.
